About the Home:

The Lord put a burden for children in foster care on Erin Aylor's heart in 2001. In 2008, Erin was diagnosed with Type 1 Diabetes. The Lord then gave her a vision to help girls in need who have the extra burden of having a serious and lifelong illness, Type 1 Diabetes. The home is named in honor of Cyndie Parks, an LPN who was a Type 1 Diabetic. She was what is known as a "brittle diabetic." Even with the best of medical care and concern for her own health, diabetes took her eyesight and its complications her life at the early age of 46. Her caring legacy will live on through this home. It will provide a loving place for teens to reach their maximum potential as young adults who can advocate for healthcare needs and make a positive impact on society. House parents will model Christian values, and transition skills into adulthood will be taught. Physical, spiritual, medical, emotional and educational needs will be met with full care. With your financial help, this can happen! We sincerely need your generous and sacrificial giving to serve this very special population. Your donation is TAX-DEDUCTIBLE. The home is currently a federal tax-exempt 501(c) (3) entity which is incorporated by the state of Arkansas. Please donate as the Lord leads you. We only operate debt-free per our beliefs. Private donations, not government funds, are our bedrock.

“Learn to do good. Seek justice. Help the oppressed. Defend the orphan.” Isaiah 1:17a NLT
